Who is Francis FOGberg?

This book belongs to:

Education and outreach is an opportunity for Port St. Lucie Utility Systems to bring awareness
to the many ways we all can help
keep our environment thriving.

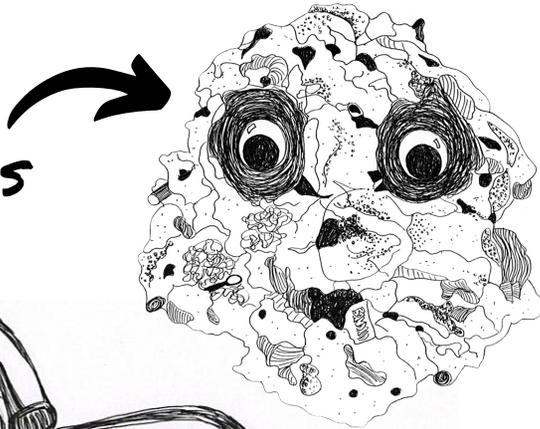

You can impact and influence
those around you by leading the way.

I promise to keep fats, oil, grease,
and trash from going down the drain,

And I commit to spreading
the message of this
FOG-free campaign!

KEEP FRANCIS OUT!

This book is dedicated to all of the amazing wastewater professionals who deal with the effects of fats, oil, and grease
(FOG) every day.

I hope this helps make your job easier!

These good habits will protect our sewers and help make *reuse,

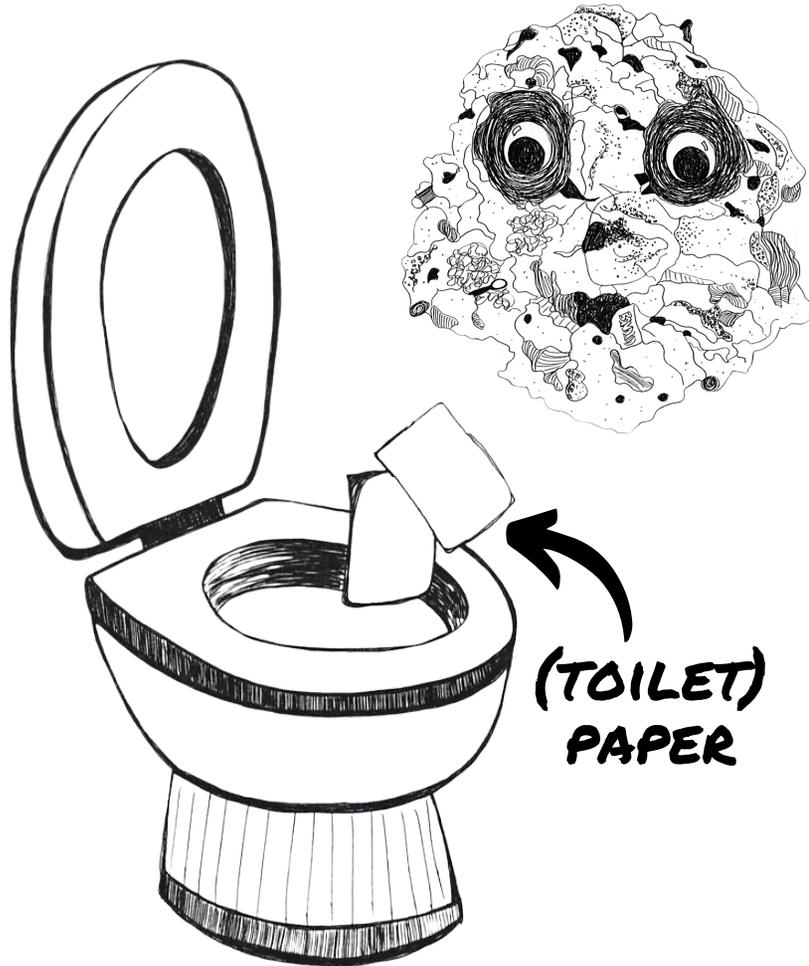

Which is great for our planet, so let's all make this truce:

*Reuse: Highly treated wastewater used for watering golf courses and grassy areas.

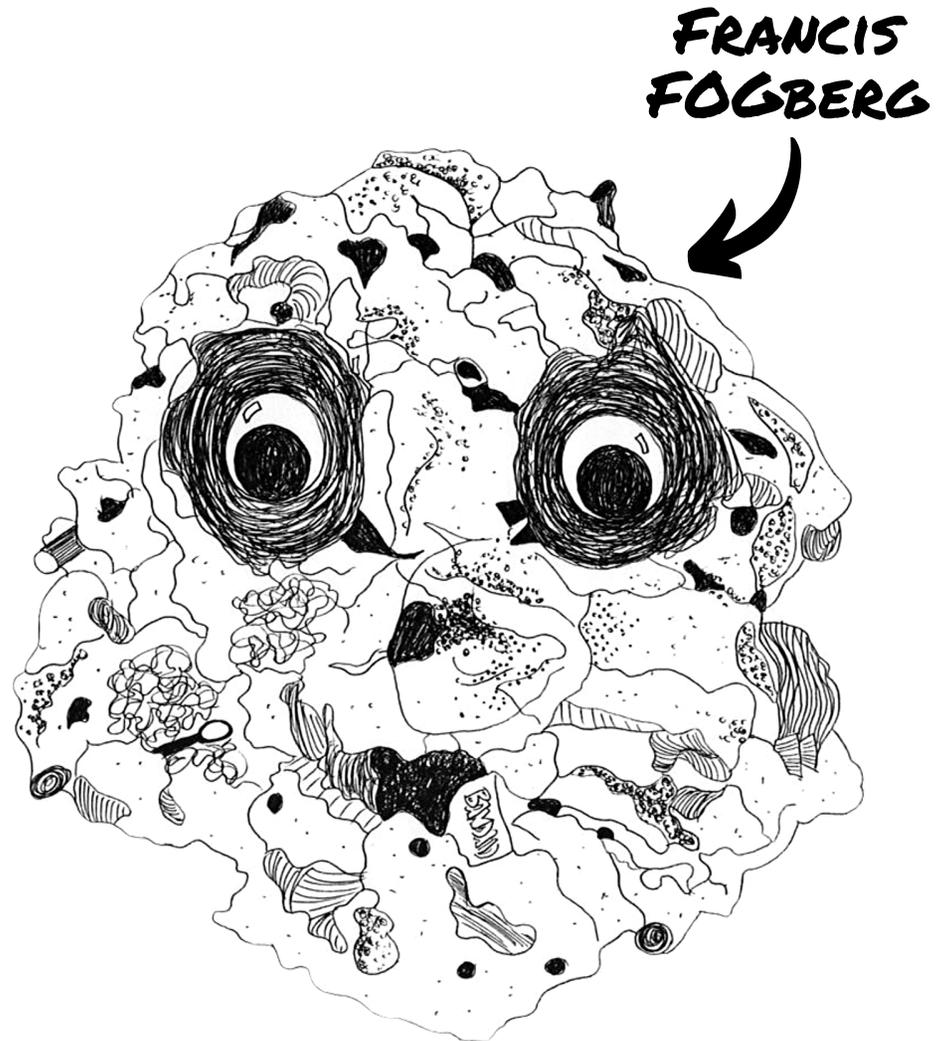

So stop Francis FOGberg
from his greasy caper,

And only flush the three P's,
which are pee, poo, and paper.

Francis FOGberg—
the dirtiest guy I know.

He collects flushed stuff
and prevents proper flow.

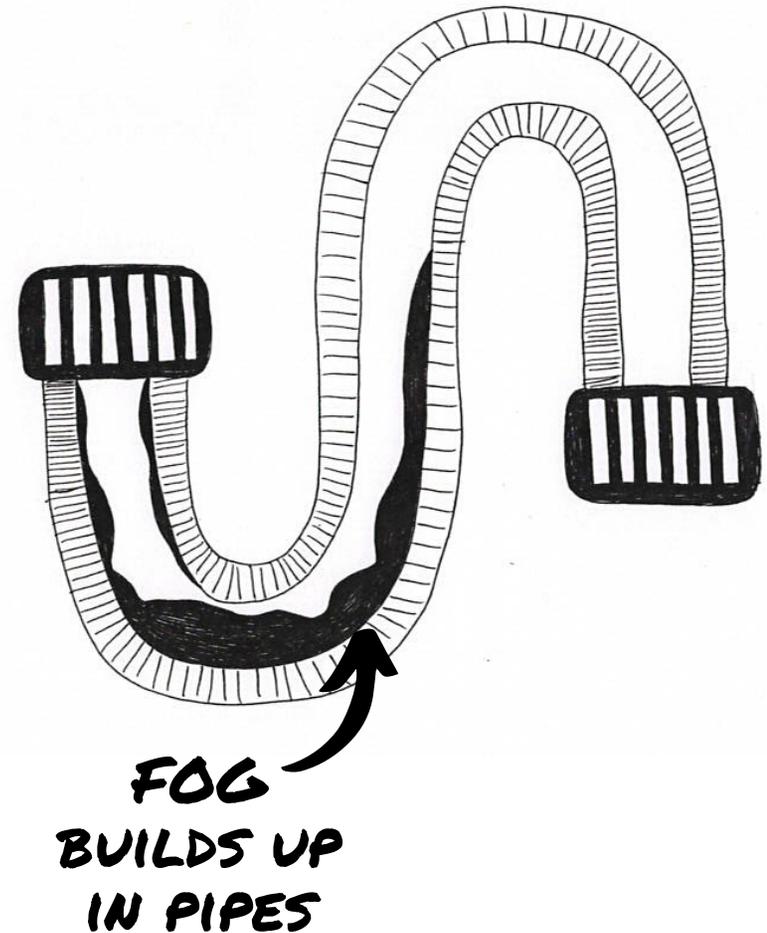

Anything you put down the drain,
in the kitchen or bath,

Builds him up bigger
as it crosses his path.

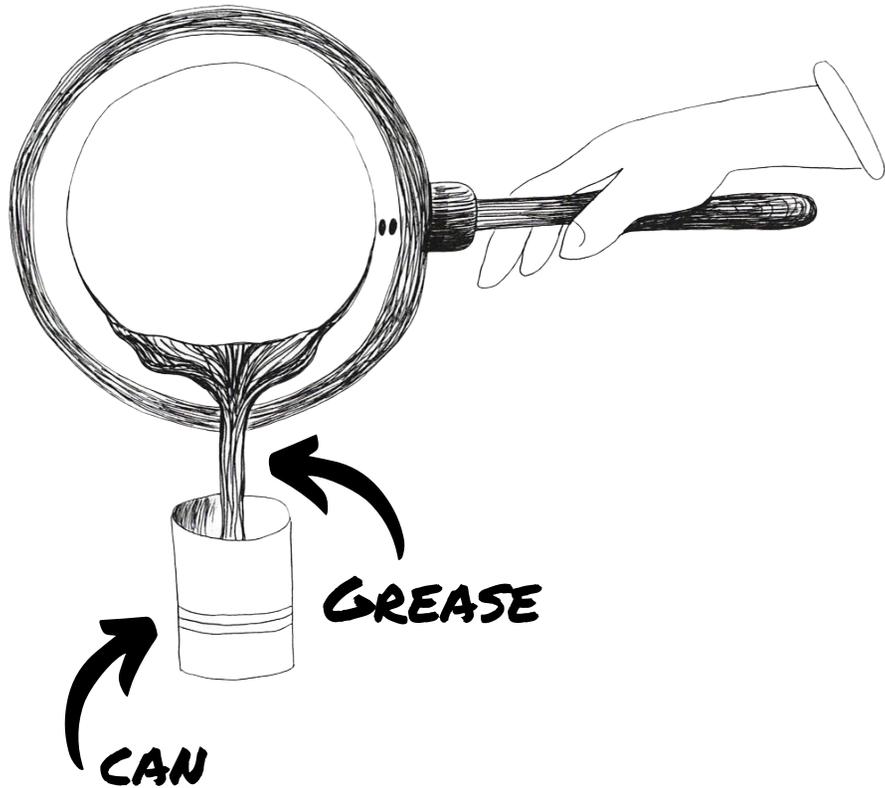

There are so many things
to keep out of the sink,

Because it can all build up faster than you think.

Put trash, litter, and waste
in its place, and grease in a can,

Medicine is hazardous,
for that you'll need a safe plan.

Francis is made of fats, oil, and grease,
also known as "FOG."

He's the glue that makes
other things stick, causing a clog.

Things like diapers, hair, dental floss,
and wipes,

Coffee grounds and cigarette butts,
are not good for your pipes.

Those things should be kept out of the sewer and thrown away.

Here are some small changes
you can make and do every day:
